

Bur Oak

The Bur Oak prefers full sun and is good in a variety of soils. It is very drought tolerant due to its deep taproots. It is a slow growing tree and has a mature height of 70—80 feet. The Bur Oak is a long-lived tree you often find standing in a field all alone. The acorns provide food for a vast number of animals.