

Pin Cherry

The pin cherry prefers full sun and does best on well-drained, dry soil. It has a fast growth rate and has a mature height of 15 to 30 feet. They have a white flower that turns to bright red berries. Pin cherries are prized as good food. The ripe berries are a favorite with birds so it is hard to find ripe berries. If you are lucky enough to find ripe berries they make good jelly. Pin cherries are not just for the birds, game birds, raccoons, black bear, deer, rabbits and squirrels also feast on the ripe berries.
